BOSTON MAN SPOKE

ABOUT MILK DISTRIBUTING Advised Norwich Business Men Hear Dr. North's Lecture.

In the rooms of the Norwich Business Men's association on Wednesday evening, James M Cutler of Boston and John C. Orcutt, who is secretary of the agricultural committee of Boston Chamber of Commerce, spoke to about a dozen business men of the city, including Mayor Murphy, Presi-dent Herbert R. Branche of the Bus-iness Men's association, Vice Presi-dent Frank J. King of the Board of Trade and President Robert W. Per-Trade, and President Robert W. Perkins of the Shore Line Electric Railway company

The two visitors presented the mat-ter of the advisability of establishing a milk distributing station for the city delivery of milk and advised that Dr. J. C. North of New York who is to come to his North Stonington summer home today be brought here for a conference on Friday and that later he be secured to give his illustrated he be secured to give his illustrated lecture showing what an immense advantage to both producers and consumers had resulted from such a station established at Homer, N. Y.

Mr. Cutler spoke first and called attention to a comparison made by President Elliott of the New Haven road between the Danish and the Connecticut farms. President Elliott said that for each person Connecticut produces for each person Connecticut produces bushels of cereal, 4 gallons of milk, pounds of butter and a minute fraction of a pound of cheese. In Denmark for each person the product is bushels of cereal, 360 gallons of butter and 12 milk, 81 pounds of butter, and 13 pounds of cheese. Connecticut pro-duces about one-fourth of what her population consumes while Denmark not only feeds herself, but has large of only leeds he counts in 254 accounts. Denmark are brougth about by co-operation, and if they succeed so well in Denmark, they can succeed here Mr. Cutler said that the Boston Chamber of Commerce was taking this matter up because it wants to get the brains of New England back of this agricultural problem and put New England agriculture back where it ought to be argued that dairying was at the foundation of profitable farming and that we could double the use of milk if certain things were done and that we could produce three times the amount of milk as we so today, re-ducing overhead charges and when that is done putting money in the farmer's pocket. HEARING ON SIBLEY COMPENSATION CLAIM

Windham Couny Case to be Heard in Putnam June 15th. A hearing on the claim of Mrs. Kate

B. Sibley for compensation for the death of her husband, Sheriff Presto B. Sibley, who was killed in a trolley accident, has been set for Monday June 15, at 10:30 a.m. in the superior court room at Putnam by Dr. Jame J. Donohue, compensation commission er for the Second Congressional dis-Comptroller Daniel P. Dunn refuse to allow compensation from the state of Attorney-General John H. Light The attorney-general gave severa reasons why, in his opinion, the sher-iff was not an employe of teh state, the principal one being that he was chosen by the county, although paid by the state, but declined to give an opin-ion to the effect that Mrs. Sibley was not entitled to compensation, believing it better to have the question definitely settled in court State's Attorney Charles E. Searles of Putnam, who appears for the claim-ant, has filed a claim against the state and county. Former Attorney-Genera King wil appear for the state, and it is very likely that one side or the other very likely that one side or the other will appeal from Commissioner Dono hue's finding to the superior court.

GRANGE ARRANGED FOR

NORTH STONINGTON VISIT. Norwich Members to Attend Neighbors' Night With Party of Fifty.

Worthy Master Elmer C. Jewett presided on Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of Norwich grange. No. 172, Patrons of Husbandry, in Pythian hall, where there was a good attendance, and in the matters of business final arrangements were made for attending the meeting of North Stonington grange on Friday evening, which six granges in this part of the state have been invited. The Norwich grange members are to ge in a special trolley on the Norwich and Westerly line, starting from here on the 6.45 trip, and a number of the Preston City grangers are also to be of the party, when the selection of the bankers concluded at 1 o'clock with luncheon. Afterwards the bankers came over to Plant field to attend the Bridgeport-New London game. grangers are also to be of the party, which is expected to number about 50.

In the lecturer's hour in charge of Frank T. Maples the grange was entertained by recitations by Miss Myra Gladys Frink, a recent graduate of a school of expression in Boston. Her selections were That How That Staried Ougranting and The Shaying ed, Quarantine, and The Shaving Store. Each one was given in a way that brought her prolonged applause

in Moosup. Antonio Bazile, the interpreter the Middletown police court, has the deathbed confession of Salvatore Capo-dici, a condemned murderer, who died at Wethersfield last week, where he was serving a life sentence, says a Middletown despatch. He says that ne was convicted on the perfury of his wife, whom he says was the real criminal, having killed a men who had attempted to assault her. Capodici was convicted of murder in the first degree in Willimantic on May 19, 1908, being but 17 years of age at the time. The murder of which he was convicted took place in Mossius, the victim heins Pieplace in Moosup, the victim being Pietro Dinatale, a New York man who was staying at his home. Dinatale was found with his head crushed in with an axe and his feet chopped off. The theory of the state was that Capodici had committed the crime for money. Capodici in his story, which covers 26 typewritten pages, says that his wife was the real murderer. He said that he was forced to marry his wife by her father and brothers, who held revolvers at his head and frightened him into ti. His wife's name was Antolnetta, and according to his story she was very ardent in her affection for him before their marriage. Af ward she seemed to cool and at time told him that her father said that he was a man who cut throats and she feared her fate would be the same. Finally Capodici said he came home one day and found Antoinetta all bloody. She told him sne had killed Dinatale when he had at tempted certain familiarities, but said unless he kept quiet about it she would swear that he (Capodici) had done it. She asked him to cut off Dinatale's legs, but he refused, whereupon she took the axe and chopped them off. They then tried to carry out the body in a washtub, but slipped on the I'e Finally he said Antoinetta's uncle came in and he helped her dispose of the The uncle's name was Luigi

To Help Nature Shed a Bad Complexion

Beauty devotees are enthusiastic over the beauth, ying qualities of mercolized wax. Nothing discovered within recent years accomplishes so much, so quickly, without harm, at such small expense. —e principal reason for its wonderful merif is that it works in harmony physiological laws. Instead of hiding complexion defects, it removes them, it actuany takes off the aged faded, sallow, frackled or blotchy cuticle, gently gradually, causing no inconvenience. It is Nature's way of renewing complexions. When the natural process is retarded because of deficient circulation or nerve tone, mercolized wax comes to the rescue and hastens the sain shedding. The new complexion which appears is a natural one, youthful, healthy, exquisitely beautiful. If you've never tried mercolized wax, get an ounce of it at the drug store, use at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning.

Another natural beautifying treatment—for wrinkled skin—is to bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This is remarkably and instantaneously effective.

London's Foreign Quarter. Soho, the district around which now enters the night life of London, is one of the most interesting parts of the old city. In the last 200 years it has changed from the most fashionable residential quarter through the stages of aristocratic bohemianism and business invasion to becoming the most distinctive foreign quarter and the nucleus of that little section where life begins at midnight and ends with early breakfast, says a writer in the New York Tribune.
